

Centerville School NEWSLETTER

March 2, 2018

READING - The kick-off to our Spring Reading celebrations, Books for Breakfast, was a fun event this week. Staff and students appreciate families who were able to take time and join us. We want to thank the Kiwanis for providing free books to every child! Students celebrated Dr. Seuss's birthday with ice cream sundaes and many fun reading activities. Lots of extra reading was accomplished today as students participated in Stop, Drop, and Read throughout the morning! Centerville students will continue to celebrate reading while earning "reading" tickets all month. Ask your child about the "Spring into Reading" excitement at school!

BOOKFAIR - Boxes and boxes of books have arrived! Please read the flyers that were sent home with every student with great information on the Book Fair to be held March 6th and 7th. For your convenience you may download the Book Fair app or visit www.scholastic.com/bf/centervilleschool.

TALENT SHOW - Yes, you can be on stage! Start getting your act or performance polished up for the Centerville School talent show coming March 22nd. Sign up forms will be available later this month.

LEGO - ATTENTION 1ST - 4TH GRADE PARENTS! Centerville's Junior Lego Robotics League is starting up soon. We are looking for at least 2 parent volunteers to coach 2 Centerville teams. Co-coaching is also encouraged. The time commitment is 75-minute practices once a week starting the third week of March through middle of May. Practices are typically hosted right after school. Email Carole Garner, garner.carole@gmail.com if you are interested in coaching, or co-coaching. Also, an informational meeting for parents interested in having their kids participate will be held on Thursday, March 8 at 5:30pm at Centerville School. Hope to see you there!

TRACK - March 19th is the first day of track season. This spring sport is offered to students in grades 5-8 and practices are held after school. Athletes need to have current physicals on file.
