

Centerville School NEWSLETTER

April 21, 2017

BOX TOPS – Hooray! Box Tops for Education are coming in to earn money for our school! The 3rd and 4th graders won last week's tally by collecting the most. Next week will be the final week of the classroom contest. Let's try to gather a record number of box tops!

NEW BUS RULE – Bus drivers appreciate students' attention in following safety rules on busses. Drivers are tasked with handling very valuable cargo, your child. Centerville is always striving for student safety. With that said, from this point forward, eating food on the bus will not be allowed. The possibility of choking, food allergies, and distractions are concerns making this rule necessary to enforce. Please help by talking with your child and do not send food to be eaten on the bus.

LIBRARY – Centerville has been fortunate to purchase new library books for our school each year, enhancing the selection and variety of books for students. The library currently has a significant number of overdue or lost books. Notices have been sent out and now we need your help in getting these books returned! Fines are assessed to students for books that are not returned. If you and your child have received an overdue book notice, please see that the book is returned or make payment for replacement.

LOOKING AHEAD – We have several special days coming up at Centerville School and want to share these dates with you:

May 16, Curriculum Review
